THE WHATSAPP MESSAGE THAT STARTED EVERYTHING

Last month, Funmi received a WhatsApp message that made her stomach drop. Her biggest client - the one paying NGN 150,000 monthly for social media management - was ending their contract.

"Your posts just don't look professional enough," the message read. "We're moving to someone whose designs make us look more established."

Funmi stared at her phone in her small apartment in Ikeja. She had been using free design apps and basic templates, thinking her followers cared more about content than appearance. She was wrong. Dead wrong.

That same week, her competitor - someone who started their agency just six months after Funmi - announced they had signed three new clients at NGN 200,000 each. The difference? Their social media posts looked like they came from a NGN 5 million branding agency.

Three months later, Funmi had not only won back her original client but doubled her rates. She was booking consultation calls with entrepreneurs in Victoria Island willing to pay premium prices for what they now saw as "professional, world-class design work." Her secret? She had mastered Canva in a way most Nigerian entrepreneurs never even consider possible.

THIS BOOK IS YOUR DESIGN REVOLUTION

If you're reading this, chances are you've experienced Funmi's frustration. You know your business, product, or service is excellent, but your visuals are letting you down. Maybe you've lost potential customers because your flyers looked "homemade." Perhaps you've been turned down for partnerships because your presentation slides didn't inspire confidence. Or maybe you're tired of paying designers NGN 25,000 for a simple logo that takes them two days to deliver.

Here's what most Nigerian entrepreneurs don't realize: Professional design isn't about expensive software or formal training. It's about understanding principles, having the right templates, and knowing exactly what works in our market.

This book is for:

- > Small business owners who need professional marketing materials but can't afford agencies
- > University students building businesses while studying (especially those preparing for SIWES or final year projects)
- > Freelancers who want to position themselves as premium service providers
- > Social media managers tired of losing clients to "more professional-looking" competitors
